King sees what is true to him. He speaks his feeling through his paintings. King feels all of what is important for life, love and expresses them through paintings. He believes in his works, and all of them are purely precious to him. King sees colors and numbers with feelings. They dance on his canvas, and those are his friends. 4500 is the happiest number, and 7 is sad, yet 77 is a good day! When he paints, he smiles. He enjoys those feelings and they are freely cast in his canvases.

A: Penguin is having an okay day because its night time "77".

B: The chicken is having a calm with friends "77".
